PREPARING FOR THE FAIR

Present indications point to a large attendance at the fair beginning Friday morning. There are many new faces in the city, coming from all parts of the country, and the business men of the city are making preparations for the proper entertainment and care of the large gathering of people.

Business fronts are being polished up a little, electric designs of "welcome" are being placed in conspicuous places in the business section, show windows are being handsomely decorated and classy lines of goods are being brought to the front. It is certain that Ogden is going to be prepared to make a showing commensurate with the advanced conditions in the city.

There is much building going on in the business districts, but the contractors state that they will do their best to keep the sidewalks and streets in front of building operations as free from building materials as possible, so as to not retard traffic any more than is absolutely necessary. It was stated by contractors this morning that between the Ogden river bridge on Washington avenue and Lincoln avenue on Twenty-fifth street there are at least 200 men at work paving streets and erecting business blocks.

The surface of Washington avenue, north of Twenty-second street, is being disturbed just now for the laying of asphaltum, but the engineering department of the city has instructed the Moran company to leave the east side of the avenue undisturbed until after the Four-State fair. If this is not done the engineer states, it would be quite impossible for the people to get to and from the fair grounds with automobiles and carriages. Hundreds of ponies for the races have arrived in the city and are now in their stalls near the paddock, and many more are arriving on each train. The farmers are bringing in their stock and farm products. Chairman Herrington of the International Sheep Show, says there will be the greatest display of blooded sheep in Ogden during the next ten days that has ever been seen on the American continent.

BALLOONS HAVE ALL LANDED

Indianapolis, Sept. 20.—The last of the thirteen balloons which started in the American champion and free-for-all races at the Indianapolis motor speedway last Saturday afternoon, has landed.

The Miss Sophie came down at 6:10 p. m., Sunday, in the mountains of Calhoun county, West Virginia, miles from any railroad or telegraph office, and the landing was not reported until today.

The other two balloons which were not reported down until today are: The Buckeye at Showalter, Va., at 7:30 a. m., Monday, and the New York, which landed at Portsmouth, Ohio, at 5 p. m., Sunday.

The three victors, which will represent America in the international meet to be held in St. Louis October 17 next, will not be known until the Aero Club of America passes on the reports of the pilots.

For elapsed time of flight, the America II leads with approximately 44 hours and 27 minutes, almost four hours behind the American endurance record of 48 hours and 26 minutes.

BEAUTIFUL EXHIBIT OF CEMENT HOUSE

One of the unique exhibits to be seen during the Four-State fair will be a small cement house, built by the Ogden Cement company and first shown to the public in the Peach day parade at Brigham City about two weeks ago. The house is built on the old mission style and is not a cement block house nor an Edison one-piece structure. It is built of wood, covered with a plastering of cement, a form of construction which is fast becoming popular among home builders in California, but which is little known as yet in Utah.

In addition to this house, which is a perfect model of the new style home, the cement company is planning a complete cement block-making plant for exhibition purposes, as well as some other new features in cement work.

Within the next ten days, it is expected that the Ogden Cement company will start on the doubling of the capacity of its plant by the building of a second unit. It is known that the company is now contemplating such an enlargement of its factory.

DR. CONDON IS A CANDIDATE

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficacy of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Mrs. Betsy Shipley, 272 22nd St., Ogden, Utah, says: "I do not think there is any need for people to suffer from kidney complaint when Doan's Kidney Pills can be had. I doubt if anyone has suffered more severely from this disease than I. The worst symptoms of my case was a too frequent desire to void the kidney secretion. I also had backache and one doctor who treated me said I had a floating kidney. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured from BADCON'S PHARMACY, gave me immediate relief. This preparation is so effective that I can now enjoy every kidney suffered would try it."

Mrs. Shipley gave the above testimonial in July, 1906, and when interviewed in July, 1909, she said: "I still take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, for the cure they effected has been permanent. The statement I gave for publication in their favor three years ago still holds good."

agreed to do so. I had no idea of running for the office until last Sunday, but now that I have started the running, I am going to run hard. I have the assurance of the support of some of the most influential people in the county and I am absolutely sure of receiving the nomination—and that is equivalent to being elected."

The doctor declined to commit himself when asked regarding political policies, but it is pretty generally known that the physician has a leaning to the insurgent wing of the Republican party and, if not an openly avowed insurgent, might well be termed a "progressive."

Dr. Condon's opponent in the fight for the nomination will be Geo. J. Kelly, who has also announced himself as a candidate for the office and is making an active campaign.

INTERPRETER IN DAMAGE CASE

The case of Anna Stewart against the Oregon Short Line was taken up again today, most of the time having been occupied in hearing the testimony of the plaintiff.

Miss Stewart is unable to speak the English language and an interpreter, Josephine Erickson, has been employed. This takes up much time, and it is quite certain that the case will not be concluded today.

The plaintiff states that she was in the wreck that occurred February 8, at Twenty-second street and Wall avenue, and that she was injured about the chest and shoulder. She stated to the jury that her collar bone was dislocated and that her right arm was so badly injured that she has not been able to use it much since the accident. She stated that she could not remember much of anything that happened for a number of days after the accident.

Other witnesses who testified regarding her physical condition since the accident were Edward B. Hudson, Mary Hall, Mary Baxter, C. R. Jeppson, Hallia Adams, Victoria Jensen and Conrad Jensen.

The plaintiff acknowledged in court that she did not complain of her injuries while she was at the hospital and did not ask the attendant or physician there for assistance of any kind.

YOUNG HORSETHIEF IS NOW IN JAIL

A young man giving his name as Walter Turner was arrested by Sheriff Wilson and a Deputy yesterday near Huntsville on the charge of being a horsethief. The youth when placed in a cell in the county building confessed to the charge and revealed a long string of horsethefting and juggling in horsethief that astonished the sheriff's office.

This young fellow has stolen in and about Ogden a dozen horses; has traded them off to unsuspecting farmers and livery men; has sold the farmers steeds and engineered things so that it was quite difficult to catch him, and to trace the ownership of the stolen animals.

He evidently fancied horsethief, for he had horses stationed in Ogden, Evanston, Huntsville and Snowville, for his personal use, and would appear at different times and ride them about the country, making "swaps" here and there, as though he were a professional horsemaster.

He met his Waterloo, however, when he put through a cooked trade with a farmer named Wilson above Huntsville a week ago. The farmer complained to officials about the theft of his horse and yesterday morning noticed the boy riding down the valley on another animal, which subsequently proved to be another stolen horse. Wilson followed him to Huntsville where he had Turner taken in charge and turned over to Sheriff Wilson of Weber county.

The boy broke down and confessed that he had stolen as many as twelve horses; that he had animals stationed at the points named, one being in Corey's stables, suffering with a lame foot, and that he had sold his stolen mounts for from $10 to $20. The arrest of Turner will probably put an end to the number of thefts reported in this vicinity during the past few months.

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT ARE FRIENDS

New Haven, Sept. 20.—Reports that there was any apparent lack of the old time cordiality between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt during their meeting in this city yesterday afternoon, either before or after the luncheon and conference at the home of Henry C. White, on Edwards street, were deprecated today by Arthur Hadley of Yale, who was present throughout the luncheon. Dr. Hadley said: "I saw no trace of anything but friendliness in the manner of either of the men. There was nothing to suggest anything but their old time cordiality."

DECISION IN LIQUOR CASE

SALT LAKE, Sept. 19.—In a decision announced by the supreme court of Utah, it is held that the city council of each city, the board of trustees of each town and the board of county commissioners of each county in the state of Utah have the power to refuse to grant any or all applications to sell liquor made to them. The supreme court further holds that the authority of these various civil bodies is absolute and that no court can interfere with them. In other words, mandamus proceedings will not lie to compel either of these civil bodies to grant liquor licenses.

This opinion was handed down in the case of Dennis A. Smyth against the commissioners of Morgan county, T. U. Butters, W. E. Cridle and Geo. F. Carter, appellants, for a writ of mandamus to compel them to grant him a retail liquor license. Smyth made application on March 1, 1909, for a renewal of his liquor license at Devil's Slide. The renewal was not granted, the commissioners giving as a reason that they wanted to stop the sale of liquor in the county so far as they had jurisdiction.

Smyth made an appeal to the district court and the commissioners were ordered to show cause why they should not grant the license. In court the commissioners declared that Mr. Smyth had sold liquor on Sundays and that it was not wise to permit the sale of liquor in the country districts of the county outside the towns. The district judge ordered that the commissioners again consider the application. The appeal by the commissioners to the supreme court followed and the decision finally settles the matter.

The opinion is written by Chief Justice N. Straup and is concurred in by Justices J. E. Frick and W. M. McCarty.

The supreme court holds that the courts may interfere only when commissioners arbitrarily and capriciously deny applications for liquor licenses and then not to direct them how to decide the matter, but only to compel them to consider the application fully and fairly.

Quota Zane Decision.

Justice Zane quotes from a decision by Judge Zane in which the latter says that in considering any application for a liquor license the city council, the board of trustees or the board of county commissioners have a wide range of discretion in that they are first to consider the general welfare of the community and place that above the convenience or good of the individual who applies for a license.

The opinion holds that the power of the county commissioners is discretionary, in the following language:

"The legislature undoubtedly vested the county commissioners with the power of passing upon applications for permission to sell intoxicating liquors. In passing upon such questions whether the applicant is 21 years of age, whether his application is in due form and whether his proposed bond is good and sufficient, but also whether the person applying for the license is a proper person to be entrusted with the conduct of such business, whether the place proposed to engage in the business is suitable, whether the demands of the public require such accommodations at such place, and they may also take into consideration many other questions involving the safety, peace, good order, moral and public good of the neighborhood or community in which it is proposed to engage in the business."

"That there are certain dangers and evils attending the business of selling intoxicating liquors is generally conceded and recognized. And, as we have seen by our statute, a wide discretionary power is conferred upon the board of county commissioners in passing upon applications for licenses to sell intoxicating liquors within their territorial jurisdiction. When an application for a license is made to them it unquestionably is their duty to consider it, and, upon reaching a determination. But the duty of the commissioners in the premises to grant licenses is not imperative and mandatory. It is discretionary."

WOMAN PREVENTS A JAIL BREAK

Fredonia, Kas., Sept. 20.—Courage on the part of Mrs. C. H. Lopenan, wife of Deputy Sheriff Lopenan, prevented a jail delivery here today.

Mrs. Lopenan, from her home near the jail, saw two negro prisoners climb through a cell window, the bars of which had been sawed. She rushed into the house, got a gun and ran toward the jail fired one shot. The prisoner in the window changed his mind and crawled back. The sound of the shot aroused neighbors who pursued and captured the two men who had run away.

SAN FRANCISCO IS TO BE CLOSED UP TIGHT

San Francisco, Sept. 20.—Captain of Detectives Wall, acting chief of police during the absence of Chief Martin, who is taking a vacation pending his retirement from the department, issued orders today to company commanders that the lid be kept on tight while he is in command.

These orders were explicit and were accompanied by the statement that all tendarin cafes which refused to obey the one o'clock closing ordinance would be closed summarily. Patrol sergeants were directed to raid all suspicious houses in the so-called uptown tendarin district.

Today's step is the first in an anti-vice crusade ordered by Mayor McCarthy as the result of exposure of alleged wholesale graft in the police department and marks an official abandonment of the "Paris of America" idea, promulgated when the mayor took office.

MAN KILLED IN A MYSTERIOUS WAY

Los Angeles, Sept. 20.—The mystery of the bullet which, without flash or report from the weapon from which it was fired, instantly killed Rudolph Gustelium as he sat in an open air moving picture theater last night, was partially cleared away today by the finding of the autopsy surgeon. The position in which the man was sitting when shot, the police say, makes it almost certain the bullet was fired by some one hunting in the bed of the Los Angeles river.
